SALES MANAGER FOR LABATT ACCUSED AS KIDNAP ACCOMPLICE

Friend and Employee of London Brewer Under Suspension From Company Following Disclosures in Court at Trial of One of Principals—Abduction Confessor Tells Story

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 26 (P).—Suspension of Louis McCaughy as general sales manager of Labatt Brewery was revealed here tonight. Disclosure of the former policeman's suspension brought a dramatic climax to a day of court revelations, in which the friend and employee of John Labatt was named as one of those who were to benefit from the kidnapping of the London brewer a year ago this month.

The name of McCaughy was brought into the case by Michael McCordell, confessed principal in the abduction, who told Crown Attorney Norman F. Newton a detailed story of the four-year-old plot, which collapsed when Albert Pegram, still sought along with Russell Knowles, described his accomplices.

McCaughy named himself, Pegram, Knowles and Jack Bannion, committed for trial today on a charge of kidnapping and armed robbery, as principals in the actual kidnapping. He told the crowded courtroom he was convinced McCaughy was to be paid $200,000 to share what he called a $200,000 ransom. Original notes from the kidnappers called for payment of $150,000.

Hugh Labatt, brother of the kidnap victim and vice-president of the brewery bearing their name, suspended McCaughy after he and Mrs. Labatt sat in court listening to the story told by McCordell.

McCaughy declared the innocence of David Meisner, serving fifteen years in prison for the kidnapping. (Continued on Page 8, Column 7)

SAANICH SHACK HELD FUGITIVE

Police Trace George Bernard Scott to Seymour Street After Escape

Police dragnets last evening were closing around George Bernard Scott, who escaped from the Jubilee Hospital at 5:20 o'clock yesterday morning, clothed in a bathrobe and slippers. Scott was awaiting trial on a charge of participating in robbery of $6,000 worth of jewels from the home of D. O. Cameron on July 13.

Scott was traced to a shack on Seymour Avenue, in Saanich, by Chief of Police Allan Rankin, Detective John Stern and Detective Ben Acreman. He was seen there by a resident who recognized him from a published picture and informed Chief Rankin. When the chief and city detectives arrived he had gone.

KEEPING CLOSE WATCH
Victoria, Saanich, Esquimalt, Oak Bay and Provincial Police are keeping close watch on all boats, trains and buses. Scott is considered by Chief Heatley to be a dangerous criminal. Police state that he has a record extending back to 1925, with convictions recorded against him at Vancouver and Edmonton, and a jail break at Golden.

Scott was jointly charged with John Morwood Caird with stealing a safe from the home of Mr. Cameron, and elected trial in a higher court. He had been a patient in the hospital for several weeks.

ESCAPE DESCRIBED
During the absence of Constable G. L. Greenwood from a semi-private ward, Scott escaped through a window and reached the ground from the second floor by means of a fire escape, police report. (Continued on Page 8, Column 2)

Six Persons Rescued When Sailboat Capsized in Strong Breeze at Boundary Bay

BOUNDARY BAY, Wash., Aug. 26 (P).—Six young holidaymakers from Vancouver and New Westminster were fortunate in escaping with no more than a ducking yesterday when their sailboat capsized in a strong breeze more than a mile from shore.

The party included Miss Betty Wilson and her brother, James; Miss Helen Trapp, Francis P. Matheson and Bob McDonald, all of New Westminster, and Miss Mollie Eakin, of Vancouver. James Wilson swam toward shore while other members of the party clung to the boat. Persons on shore heard Wilson's shouts and launched a rescue boat.

Social Credit League Leader Tells of Plans to Bring Happiness and Contentment—No Repudiation Nor Confiscation

CALGARY, Aug. 26 (P).—A fifty-seven-year-old high school teacher, temporarily a politician, lolled back in a deep-upholstered chair here today and visioned an Alberta without poverty, without relief, the wheels of industry singing a merry tune of activity, its people happy and contented.

He was William Aberhart, the uncrowned king of Alberta, educationist, evangelist, economist, whose Social Credit forces swept the province last week, and who will head his own Government next week.

Within fifteen or eighteen months, he expects to have in operation his Social Credit system, based on $25 monthly credit payments to every man and woman in Alberta,

Wants Territory for Italian Expansion

Mussolini, seen sending off a new contingent to Africa, is reported to be planning to demand from other powers territory for Italian expansion as his price for calling off his Ethiopian campaign. Marshal Italo Balbo (arrow), one of the Duce's right-hand men, yesterday was in Paris on a "good will" visit.

Washington Meeting Marks Definite Step In Planning of Pact

Representatives of Canadian Department of External Affairs Confer With United States Officials on Reciprocal Trade Agreement—Information on Discussions Refused

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26 (P).—A definite step in trade treaty negotiations between Canada and the United States was made today, when the Canadian Minister, Hon. W. D. Herridge, and representatives of the Canadian Department of External Affairs were in conference with John Hickerson of the State Department and officials of other United States departments.

The State Department refused all information and the legation was equally as reticent, but it was established that H. B. McKinnon, of the Canadian Tariff Commission; L. D. Wilgess, director of the Commercial Intelligence Service; Norman A. Robertson, second secretary of the Department of External Affairs; and Merchant Mahoney, first secretary of the Canadian Legation, were in conference at the State Department at prolonged morning and afternoon sessions.

Mr. Herridge left for Ottawa in the afternoon. Mr. Hickerson is reported to have reached a point permitting direct offer and counter-offer.

DEDUCTION OBVIOUS
Since it is known that informal negotiations have been proceeding for months, having been inaugurated after the visit here of Prime Minister Bennett in April, 1933, the deduction is obvious they have now reached a point permitting direct offer and counter-offer.

TWO SHIPS ARE LOST IN STORM

Fate of Three Schooners Unknown and Unidentified Steamer Feared Lost

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Aug. 26 (P).—The turbulent Atlantic tonight held secret the fate of four fishing schooners and their crews and also that of an unidentified steamship as the gale which whipped the coast of Newfoundland Sunday gradually subsided.

One schooner was reported to have foundered with the loss of its crew of six, three others were sighted drifting off the coast with no sign of life on them, and hatches washed ashore caused belief that a steamship from which they had been ripped by the storm had gone down by the gale.

SCHOONER FOUNDERS
Captain Butcher, of Kingswell, his four brothers and another seaman were said to have perished when their schooner, Walter, foundered off Trepansey at the height of the storm Sunday.

Three other schooners sighted without any sign of life aboard led watchers to believe their crews had been swept overboard by the huge seas kicked up by the gale which lashed the Newfoundland coast, sinking fishing schooners at sea, including powerboats and dories, and others. Still other craft were broken up or carried out to sea.

BOY BLINDED BY BULLET IN HEAD
Shot by Companions as He Stepped From Behind Target—May Lose Life

THESSALON, Ont., Aug. 26 (P).—George McKay, sixteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman McKay, was in a hospital here tonight with a head wound that had rendered him totally blind and may yet take his life.

The youth stepped from behind a target at which companions were shooting. Saturday, at Cockburn Island, where he resided. He was hit in the head by a bullet before his companions saw him.

He was taken by boat on a two-hour journey from the island to here. Physicians expressed surprise, owing to the nature of the wound, that he lived at all.

RAINSTORMS IN EAST
CHARLOTTETOWN, Aug. 26 (P).—Rainfall records of twenty-five years fell when Prince Edward Island experienced heavy rainstorms, starting Friday, to break a twenty-nine-day dry spell. In three days 6.6 inches of rain fell.

ITALY MAY DEMAND GIFT OF COLONIES FROM OTHER POWERS AS PRICE OF AFRICAN PEACE

Mussolini Expected to Make Astonishing Demand for Territorial Expansion—Population Leaving Ethiopian Capital and Foreign Diplomats Ask for Neutralized Zone

Great Britain Sending Troops And Ships to Mediterranean

LONDON, Aug. 26 (P).—Mussolini may tell the League of Nations on September 4 that, if other powers will give Italy some of their colonies in Africa, he will call off his threatened invasion of Ethiopia, diplomats heard today.

If he intends to name such a price for peace, said students of the Italo-Ethiopian situation, he may endeavor first to get from Chancellor Hitler, of Germany, support for making the colonial question an international concern.

Baron Konstantin von Neurath, the German Foreign Minister, told Sir Eric Phipps, British Ambassador to Berlin, in May, that Germany insists that the former Allies must recognize her right to have colonies again before the Reich will return to the League of Nations. Germany lost her African colonies in the war.

At the same time, the return to the Foreign Office tomorrow of Sir Samuel Hoare, Foreign Minister, and Anthony Eden, Minister for League of Nations Affairs, was expected to give new impetus to negotiations with France and Italy.

MOVING CAUTIOUSLY
While the Government has been represented as feeling the colonial problem is an international one which can only be decided at a joint conference of the interested powers, there was no sign that Great Britain would permit any sudden parity to be called as a result of the present events in Africa.

In naval circles, War Office orders, hastening the departure of 1,200 technical troops, the Neurath to the island of Malta and Aden, Arabia, and dispatching the aircraft carrier, Courageous, to the Suez Canal, caused attention. These movements, officially, are routine.

TRANSPORTS READY

GUNS BLAZE IN ROBBERY

Three Men and a Woman Hold Up Liquor Store in Vancouver

VANCOUVER, Aug. 27 (P).—Entering the Provincial Government all night liquor store on Howe Street with guns blazing, three bandits—one of them a woman—held up the cashier, James Mulgrew and clerk, John McPhail and escaped with $275 shortly after one o'clock this morning.

While the two men and the woman were robbing the store and were punctuating their demands for money with revolver shots, a fourth bandit sat guard over a taxi cab driver who was bound and gagged in his own car at the curb.

Completing the robbery the armed trio withdrew jumped into the taxi cab and disappeared. Later, the taxi and the driver, E. Wallace, were located on Melville Street. The driver was still bound.

He told of having picked up one man on Nelson Street. He was told to drive to Howe and Hornby Streets where the three others were taken on board. He was then told to drive up an alleyway, but proving suspicious, he refused, whereupon he was seized and bound and gagged.

Mount Steele In the Yukon Is Conquered

NEW YORK, Aug. 26 (P).—Word was received today by the American Geographical Society of the successful ascent of Mount Steele, 16,439 feet high, by Walter Wood who led an expedition for the society into the Yukon Territory. The feat has never before been accomplished.

Wood telegraphed the society that he and three others reached the top of the peak August 15, making a safe return.

A member of the society's research staff, Wood has had varied experience in mountain climbing in Switzerland, India and Central America.

Became Firebug to Reform Girl, Denver City Boy Confesses

Youngster Now in Jail Following Series of Incendiary Fires—Admits Setting Twenty-Four and Committing a Dozen Robberies

DENVER, Aug. 26 (P).—A youth, whose story pictured him as gallant as a knight, and who said he set twenty-four fires in five days to "reform" the girl he met in a rooming house, was in jail tonight and Denver's wave of incendiaries was at an end.

Down town buildings were still under guard, however, as police sought another firebug.

Dr. Harry R. Cramer, of Oakland, Calif., was preparing to fly to Denver to give authorities the "background" of the youthful Denver prisoner, booked as Warren R. Cramer, seventeen, who said he was the Oakland dentist's son.

Detective Captain James E. Childers meanwhile revealed the story he said the boy told him of how he set the twenty-four fires, three of them in Denver's new $6,000,000 City Hall, three others in Catholic churches and another in police headquarters. Childers said he also told of a dozen robberies in offices and rooming-houses. The second firebug was sought because the young prisoner denied he set three fires which police are (Continued on Page 5, Column 5)

FLOODS IN GENOA TAKE SIX LIVES

Fifty-Three Injured When Sea Backs Up Along Waterfront Of Italian City

GENOA, Aug. 26 (P).—Squadrons of Fascist Militia, Carabinieri, firemen and longshoremen, worked feverishly today to repair waterfront damage inflicted yesterday by a sudden storm. Official casualty estimates placed the dead at six, injured fifty-three.

FLOODS EXTENSIVE
Firemen answered calls from 300 persons whose basements and main floors had been flooded as the sea backed up along the waterfront. Reports also continued of cave-ins in the surrounding districts.

Relief workers reported that shippers suffered heavy damages when scores of loaded trucks and wagons were swept from docks into the harbor by the cyclonic winds accompanying the waterspout.

Whole of Imperial Structure in Grave Danger From War

Sir Norman Angell, Nobel Peace Prize Winner, Outlines Situations That Might Arise Out of Italian-Ethiopian War—Explains Position of Great Britain and United States

By Sir Norman Angell, Nobel Peace Prize Winner, 1933.
(Copyright, 1935, by The Associated Press.)

NORTHEY ISLAND, MALDON, ESSEX, England, Aug. 26.—The result of a war between Italy and Ethiopia, in so far as they affect Great Britain and America, can hardly be in doubt.

Italy would of course conquer the great democratic states of Ethiopia, but not easily, and its subsequent occupation of the country will be extremely exhausting. Germany will in consequence have a free hand in Austria. Weakening Italy will be one step more toward the re-establishment of the military hegemony of Europe through Germany, which both Britain and America fought the Great War to frustrate.

DEMOCRACY MENACED
The menace to democracy will be infinitely greater than would have been involved in a victory for pre-war Germany. Another unchecked, successful assertion of Fascist military power, coming after those made first by Japan and Germany—the latter having been able to defy the victors with complete impunity within a few years of their victory—will in fact reduce the remaining great democratic states of Europe, France and Great Britain, to something like impotence. The position of the British Empire will be weakened in any case by the planting of an "expansionist" and an intensely militarist state, possessed of a particular political morality which inspires an Italian policy, along a line vital to imperial communication commanding the headquarters of the Blue Nile, and establishing a new frontier, marching 100 miles with the frontiers of British colonies.

RACIAL DANGERS
A still more important consideration is that Italian aggression, upon the only remaining independent African state, will add the most inflammable fuel to the flames of Asiatic and African nationalism, which must, sooner or later, place the whole imperial structure in danger. The intensification of race feeling will certainly have American repercussions.

Sooner or later Britain will be compelled to intervene. As guardian and chief shareholder of the Suez Canal, the position of facilitating and making profit out of an act of aggression which defies all international rights and which also undermines Britain's own security, will become too absurd for indefinite acceptance by the British people.

POSITION OF NATIONS
"Intervention" must not be read as naval or military operations. It may consist of closing the canal, leaving the next step to Italy. America won't be dragged in in the sense that she was dragged in in 1917. But sooner or later she will be compelled to co-operate with other states in withholding from Italy, not merely munitions in the last stage of manufacture, but those things indispensable to war.

Britain could have stopped the whole drift toward war if she had been given a lead modeled on the action of American statesmen something over a century ago. If, in other words, she had declared a principle of the Covenant to be her Monroe doctrine. The Covenant declares a state in the circumstances of the Italian-Ethiopian dispute which goes to war with one member of the League goes to war with all.

Local Waterfront Worker Passes in Jubilee Hospital

Mr. Older was born at Liverpool sixty-two years ago. He left the Old Country at an early age. He served in the South African War, among other things, and wore several medals for active service.

The late Mr. Older was unmarried. It is understood a sister lives in England. The deceased was very popular with his co-workers and will be missed by a wide circle of friends. The funeral will take place this afternoon, at 2 o'clock, from the chapel of the Sands Mortuary, Ltd., following which the remains will be laid at rest in Ross Bay Cemetery. Canon F. A. P. Chadwick will officiate.

She is suffering from shock, but her condition is not dangerous. Mr. Phil, driver of the motor cycle, sustained minor cuts and bruises and is expected to be discharged from hospital today.

The accident took place while the motorists were rounding a curve on the highway a mile south of Ladysmith. The motor cycle was wrecked and one fender was ripped off. Mr. Hart's car, Mrs. Hart escaped with a shaking up.

This rude log house was one of the first dwellings in the beautiful Comox Valley. Its sides of hand-shaped timbers, its gable of whip-sawn lumber and roof of cedar shingles are eloquent of the courage and industry of those who pioneered Vancouver Island. The above picture was taken in the early sixties of last century, and recently came to light in an old album owned by Major Robert Lowe, of Cobble Hill.

ITALY MAY DEMAND GIFT OF COLONIES

Gibraltar, indicating that they considered the danger zone began at Malta on the west. Four transporters stood by at Southampton, ostensibly for the regular Autumn troops' exchanges, but ready for any further sudden orders.

The aircraft carrier Glorious, carrying 1,100 men and three squadrons of war planes, left Gibraltar round of Malta, where the Mediterranean fleet is based.

From Athens came a report that a squadron of British bombing planes had passed over Greece and stopped at Pylas. They were reported bound for the Sudan.

The Admiralty reported that the Glorious, which carries eight planes, a reconnaissance group and a squadron of torpedo bombers, would take her from Malta toward Alexandria before the end of the week. She will join the concentration of ships of the Mediterranean fleet in the Suez region.

Officials, however, did not stress the Mediterranean activities. They took the position that the movements under way and ordered are routine ones, for which orders were given before the East African situation became critical.

LEAVING CAPITAL
ADDIS ABABA, Aug. 26 (P.)—Ethiopian natives and Italian authorities alike began evacuation of the capital today amid rapid-fire developments indicative of a general belief that hostilities were almost at hand.

Prices of the scanty food commodities soared; the Italian Government began evacuating its citizens and legation archives; and other diplomats acted for protection of their legations in the event of air bombardments.

Acting on Premier Mussolini's orders, the Italian Legation shipped sixty cases of official archives to Djibouti, French Somaliland.

SAFETY MEASURES
This action was followed immediately by a suggestion from the Belgian Minister, as dean of the Diplomatic Corps, that Emperor Haile Selassie incorporate the British, French, German and Belgian legations into a special international zone immune from bombardment.

These legations are situated in the same general area, of about eighteen square miles. The area does not include the American Legation, which is on the other side of the city.

The Belgian minister also asked the Emperor to give the American and other foreign legations permission to bring in emergency troops, as the British are doing.

It was believed that the "King of Kings" would approve this suggestion, provided that the incoming forces would be of moderate numbers.

EXPECT DECLARATION
ROME, Aug. 26 (P.)—Informed sources disclosed tonight that the Italian fleet is on the point of initiating extensive movements in the Mediterranean.

This disclosure followed two others—that Premier Mussolini had held his first telephone conversation with High Commissioner De Bono of Britain and Somaliland, and that he had summoned his Cabinet ministers to meet near the mimic battlefields of Bolzano.

The developments galvanized official sources into expectancy of an imminent war-like declaration by Il Duce.

The press gave itself over almost entirely to description of the military manoeuvres at Bolzano, recalling that several divisions destined for East African service were in the "forefront" of hostilities.

VISITING PARIS
PARIS, Aug. 26 (CP-Havas).—The unannounced arrival of Marshal Balbo, Italy's leading aviation expert and colonial governor, tonight stirred rumors in Paris that diplomatic moves may be under way among the powers in a last effort to stave off an Italian-Ethiopian war.

SAFE OPENER TO TRY SHIP

Man Who Opens Strong Boxes Is Now After Sunken Treasure

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 26 (P.)—Charles Courtney, who says he has opened up hitherto unopenable safes in all parts of the world, today announced he was Honolulu-bound to determine if it would be worth while trying his technique on a sunken boat that may contain treasure.

The boat in question, said Courtney, is 350 miles outside of Honolulu, and it is supposed to contain "lotsa dough." Its name and location is Courtney's secret.

SECRET SYNDICATE
A "syndicate" is back of Courtney, he said, and he is just the scout. Like the treasure boat, the identity of the syndicate is also a secret.

Courtney did reveal, however, that his home is in New York City and that he recently did a particularly tough safe-opening job for the "Bolshevik Government" in Russia. "I'm going to try to locate the ship," said Courtney. "I'm going to see what the depth is and what the ocean currents are like and then we'll decide if it is worth the trouble. It may be just a false alarm."

HOUDINI HANDCUFFS
Courtney said he was in Los Angeles to present a pair of silver handcuffs to Mrs. Harry Houdini, widow of the great magician.

The handcuffs, he asserted, were taken from Houdini's private safe in New York City, which, Courtney said with unconvincing pride, he opened for the first time since the death of the magician. The handcuffs, he explained, were given to Houdini by the City of London.

Just how and when Courtney will sail for Hawaii is another of his secrets.

OCCUPANTS IN WATER WHEN CANOE CAPSIZED

When their canoe capsized in Foul Bay yesterday morning two lads, Roger O'Connell and Ormond Griffin, were rescued by occupants of boats who witnessed the upset.

The boys were picked up by a boat containing Walter Wilson and Dorothy Adams, while the other was taken into a boat occupied by Malcolm Gardner and Alan Thompson.

The canoe was salvaged by Bill Wright and George Watkins.

Congress Adjourns As Huey Long Talks Loan Bill to Death

Filibuster Kills Deficiency Measure—Included Money for Arms Embargo and for Aged and Crippled—President's Position

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27 (AP).—Congress adjourned an historic session of gigantic legislative labors today, but left buried under a filibuster by Senator Huey Long (D-La.) the money for major deal projects.

The Senate quit at midnight Monday under the lash of an administration warning that President Roosevelt has constitutional powers to order adjournment.

TURN CLOCK BACK

The House closed its session of the seventy-fourth Congress at 12:09 a.m. (E.S.T.) after turning back the clock while waiting to learn what course the Senate would pursue. When Speaker J. W. Byrnes rapped the final gavel, the clock in the House chamber read only 11:57 p.m., or twelve minutes behind the real time.

But a tumultuous day of conferences and compromises, which maneuvered the administration in rewriting its cotton loan plans, as the price for mollifying Southern senators, and winning $100,000,000 in cash for the vast social security programme, was nullified by the Louisiana five-and-a-half-hour talk-fest.

Bluntly, he was charged by Senator Robinson, the Democratic leader; Senator Hugo Black (Democrat, Alabama) and others with "deliberately killing" the third Deficiency Bill "carrying funds for the aged and crippled by his filibuster."

"No, I ain't," Long retorted, as he talked on.

With his chauffeur and W. H. Hildebrand, vice-president and traffic manager of the Thomas A. Edison Company, Edison was returning to his home at East Orange, N.J., after a visit at the summer home of his half-brother, Charles Edison, at Als Sunapee, N.H.

Children said young Cramer told him he met the girl of the rooming-house, found she was "leading a life of shame," and tried to reform her. He told her if she did not reform he would burn down the house where she lived. The landlady, informed by the girl, called the police and they captured young Cramer last night at a downtown restaurant and dance hall, where he had a "date" with the girl. "Sure I did it," Childers said. Cramer told him when he was questioned today. "I don't know why. I just had to. I couldn't help myself. Something in me just made me do it."

At Oakland, Dr. Cramer said his son served ten months in Preston School of Industry for Boys, California reformatory, for petty thievery at Vallejo, Calif., and ran away from home numerous times since he was twelve years old. Dr. Cramer said the boy's mother died a few months after his birth, and she was insane.

He said that the results would not be changed by other scattered votes still to be recorded. Complete totals were expected late in the day, he declared.

The voting by the different locals along the coast were sent here for compilation.

WE ENGINEER EVERY SAFETY FACTOR INTO OUR CARS except two — ROAD AND DRIVER
This advertisement is the tenth of a series, pointing out how you can meet us half-way in making Canada's streets and highways safer.

How to AVOID SKIDDING

EVERYONE who drives a car knows how dangerous a skid can be when roads are wet and slippery. Let's imagine we are riding along with one of General Motors' expert Proving Ground drivers—and see how he uses the brakes to avoid this hazard.

First of all, he presses the brake pedal very lightly, and releases it almost at once. Then he presses again and releases quickly. By a series of short, moderate brake applications—instead of one violent jab—he gradually reduces speed and stops in a straight line. And very important, he doesn't press down the clutch pedal at all until the car is almost stopped—until, in fact, it is necessary to avoid "stalling" the engine.

This safe way to avoid skidding may not be new to you. But if it is, why not try it yourself, next time you're driving on wet streets?

GENERAL MOTORS

Products of Canada Limited

AN EYE TO THE FUTURE—AN EAR TO THE GROUND

3 REASONS

Why General Motors Cars
Are Easier to Control

LOOKING at today's motor cars, you see several new engineering advancements which render car-control easier and surer. The best place to look for them is in a General Motors car, because there you find them all combined.

Balanced weight, for example, helps you avoid skidding because it makes for easier steering—smoother braking action—and roadability that spells comfort as well as stability.

Knee-Action is safer than the conventional front axle, because ruts and bumps in the road don't affect steering or braking—just as they don't jar you up and down in your seat.

And the weatherproof brakes you find on a General Motors car operate just as smoothly and powerfully on a wet, rainy day as in fine, dry weather.

But all we could tell you isn't one-two-three with driving a General Motors car yourself. Call in at your dealer's and enjoy a drive today.

DEFINITE STEP IN PACT NEGOTIATIONS

It has been so thoroughly canvassed by both Governments that they are each able to say what concessions might be made.

The delicacy of a situation involving the privileges of special groups in either country has so far kept information concerning progress of negotiations from the public, except for the publicity given hearings in Washington last March and for some notice paid to the agitation of groups apprehensive of concessions inimical to their interests.

TWO BRANCHES WORKING

It is known, however, that through diplomatic channels the Governments at Washington and Ottawa have been in informal conference with each other while their commercial departments worked upon the details of their respective positions.

Naturally the detailed nature of these has been closely guarded by both Governments, the only hint allowed to escape here being contained in the announcement of hearings.

Dr. C. S. Beals, Lecturing Before Astronomical Society, Sees Reassuring Facts in Revelations Made by Modern Stellar Research STATING that the most remote star in our own system (the Galactic or Milky-Way System) was about 100,000 light-years distant, and that extra-Galactic Systems and stars, beyond or outside the Galactic System, would be millions of light-years distant, Dr. C. S. Beals, of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory staff, speaking last evening at the last of the Astronomical Society's Summer-study club series, suggested that in the discovery of such facts and the improved sense of proportion in time, in distance and the knowledge of man's relative place and guaranteed safety in the universe, lay the value of study of the stars.

Arranging his material around the subject of "Modern Stellar Research," Dr. Beals discussed the topic under the following headings: 1. Stars as individuals, reviewed first from the aspect of the outside of the star; 2. Stars in their relation to one another—their distribution in space, their motions; 3. the region outside the Milky Way—the nature of objects outside our galaxy, distribution in the sky, and their motions.

THE SPECTROSCOPE
The modern era in stellar research began about the last quarter of the nineteenth century with the introduction of stellar photography, although modern ideas on the theory of the science dated back some 300 years earlier.

At the observatory at Sanibel the individual nature of the star was being studied by means of the spectroscopic, an invention credited to a German optician, Fraunhofer. This had shown the fundamental similarity of the spectra of the stars.

STEVENS PARTY TO NAME MAN
Victoria Convention Called For Friday Evening to Select Candidate

Choice of a candidate to contest the Federal election in Victoria will be made by Stevens' Reconstruction party supporters at a meeting to be held on Friday at 8 p.m. at the committee rooms of the organization, 615 Yates Street. A nominating committee of nine was named last evening at a preliminary meeting, with Frank Partridge presiding.

A number of possible candidates have been approached, and the result of this survey will be placed before the nominating committee, it was announced. The committee includes most of the present executive of the party here, together with three others named from the floor of the meeting last evening.

OFFICIALS OF GROUP
The executive includes Frank Partridge, president; George B. Murdie, first vice-president; Mrs. Minnie Moore, second vice-president, who was elected on the committee; Trustee P. E. George, treasurer; Herbert Boothman, secretary; W. Davis and A. S. Averill. To these were added Rev. E. P. Church, Dr. R. H. Higgins and J. R. Small, forming a nominating committee of nine.

Reports at the meeting recorded 125 pledged members who will be eligible to vote at the meeting on Friday, when a candidate will be named and balloted upon if necessary.

NATIONAL BANK
Mr. Partridge, Dr. Higgins and others spoke briefly in support of the Stevens' Reconstruction platform. The present said that the nationalization of the Bank of Canada and of credit was a big plank in the platform and would be stressed during the coming campaign. It was planned to use the radio and other means of appeal, and it was suggested that a candidate had been chosen to stand for the party here, officials said.

TOURIST TRAVEL IS KEEPING UP

Customs Officials Handling Many Cars Here—Business Continues Good

Tourist travel to Victoria still continues at the peak, according to the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, immigration and customs officials.

More than 200 motor cars were handled by customs officials at Victoria and Sidney yesterday.

Hotels reported that the past two weeks were the best they had experienced since 1929 and reservations were still coming in with each mail.

Store proprietors stated visitors had more money to spend this year than in former seasons.

The publicity bureau officials pointed out that if the tourist business could be taken as a gauge, then it would appear that economic conditions were swinging back to normal.

Many tourists are commenting on the courteous way customs and immigration officials expedite their departure from boats coming to Vancouver Island.

JOHN N. WILLYS CALLED TO REST

Former Industrialist and U.S. Ambassador to Poland Is Dead in New York

NEW YORK, Aug. 26 (AP)—John N. Willys, a leader in the automobile industry for a quarter of a century, and Ambassador to Poland in the Hoover Administration, died early today at his summer home in the Bronx. He was sixty-one years old.

Stricken with a heart attack in May, he partially recovered and was stricken again last week. His condition became critical Friday.

Mrs. Willys, to whom he was married slightly more than a year ago, was in constant attendance. So was his only daughter, Mrs. Jose Deland Willys, and his first wife, the former Isabel Van Wie, were divorced in Florida in July, 1934.

Willys was a native of Canada, N.Y. At eighteen, forced to forego further schooling because of the illness of his father, he started a bicycle sales firm at Elmira, N.Y., and in seven years worked it up to an annual gross business of $500,000. In 1908 he organized the Willys Overland automobile company at Indianapolis. Later he purchased the Pope-Toledo Company at Toledo, Ohio, and moved the Willys-Overland plant there. He sold his automobile holdings to a syndicate in 1929.

MT. SICKER OPTION CENTRES INTEREST ON ISLAND MINING

Interest in mining on Vancouver Island has been heightened as a result of the entry of the Britannia Mining & Smelting Company into the field, following the optioning of the Mount Sicker properties last week.

This mining locality was formerly very productive through activities carried on by several companies. Due to J. W. Southin, E. E. Oller, Reeser, mining man, and P. E. Peterson, M.E., the whole of the claims on the mountain were consolidated, and considerable work was done in the way of proving their potentialities. Last week they were able to conclude the deal with the Britannia people, and there is every expectation that worked as a unit, the properties on Mount Sicker will prove valuable.

The faith of J. W. Southin, a native son of Vancouver Island, in the value of the property in the Britannia field is said to have made possible the present possibility of renewed activity. As a result of this deal other old prospects and mines on Vancouver Island are being carefully scrutinized with a view to ascertaining their potentialities, and it is expected that considerable activity may result.

Win Junior and All-Age Stakes at Gun-Dog Meet At Matson Farm

Favored by ideal weather conditions the annual field trials of the Victoria and District Gun-Dog Club, held Sunday at the Matson Farm, North Saanich, were voted an outstanding success.

Norman H. Lord's Gordon setter, Cowichan Boy, won the all-age stake while first honors in the junior stake was captured by Ed. Gylas's Gordon setter, Cowichan Flash.

The judges were favorably impressed with the work of the dogs, and expressed the opinion that the trials are bringing about a great improvement in local shooting dogs. The junior stake was judged by Tom Dickie, well-known local fancier, who considered all of the entries showed good promise.

CLASSY WORK
L. O. Hillier, Vancouver, judged the all-age stake, which was keenly contested. Some very classy work was done by the winning dogs in this stake. Unfortunately, the birds were not well distributed, and dogs which were lucky enough to run in never had a decided advantage over those which ran in the open stubble, some of the latter having no opportunity to handle birds.

Gordon setters figured very prominently in the list of winners, taking first and third places in the junior stake, and first, second and divided third in the all-age, a showing which must be gratifying to the admirers of this old breed.

Summary of results follows: Junior stake—1, Cowichan Flash; 2, Gypsy D; 3, Cowichan Mack; All-age stake—1, Cowichan Flash; 2, Cowichan Flash; 3, Pep II and Cowichan Mack, equal. Highly commended J. R. Hether's Sport, Thop Cloud Ann, Geoffrey D and Pep.

COMETING DOGS

The complete list of competing dogs follows: Junior stake—N. H. Lord's Cowichan Mack, handled by A. Jordan; E. Gylas's Cowichan Flash; H. Humber's Rex; W. F. Daws's Gypsy D; N. H. Lord's Shaun of Sunny-side.

All-age stake—N. H. Lord's Cowichan Mack, handled by A. Jordan; E. Gylas's Cowichan Flash; H. Humber's Rex; W. F. Daws's Gypsy D; N. H. Lord's Shaun of Sunny-side.

Thanks were tendered the judges at the close of the trials for the ability with which they had carried out a difficult task.

PLEASED WITH SCHOOLS HERE

Prof. M. Krakowski, Los Angeles, Has High Regard for Canadian Institutions

Canadian schools, colleges and universities are held in high regard by Meyer Krakowski, professor of German in the Los Angeles Junior College, who is visiting at the Y-mission Hotel.

Born in Russian Poland, Professor Krakowski studied first in Europe, and from 1921 to 1922 attended the University of Toronto. Later he attended the University of California.

He said yesterday he was thoroughly enjoying his holiday here, after teaching at the Summer School of the University of California.

INSPECTS COLLEGE
On Saturday he inspected Victoria College on the invitation of Percy H. Elliott, principal. With Madame Sanderson Mongin, instructor of French at the college, he visited the Provincial Library.

Professor Krakowski declared he was greatly impressed with the people of Victoria, as well as the beauty of the city. Although he was a master of three languages—Polish, German and English—the visitor said he could not fully express his appreciation.

- FAVORS ENGLISH
Defining into his repertoire he picked the German word "gemuetlichkeit" as being the one word which characterized Victoria and its people. Professor Krakowski said the world could not be translated into true English, but meant in a way, "make-you-feel-at-home-ness."

Professor Krakowski, in speaking of languages, stated he was in favor of English becoming the officially recognized universal language, providing the spelling was simplified. He intimated that much of the misunderstanding between nations of the world resulted from the difference in languages.

Social Activities and Notes of Personal Interest

Interesting Wedding Is Solemnized

A wedding of interest to Victorians was solemnized on Wednesday, July 31 at the Church of St. Peter and St. Paul, North Curry, Taunton, Somerset, England, of Rosemary Violet Ridgway Cookson, only child of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Cookson, of The Grange, North Curry, formerly of Victoria, to Lieutenant Patrick Edward James Ryan, Royal Navy, only son of the late Lieutenant E. W. Blackwood Ryan, R.N., and of Mrs. Ryan, of Harford, Ivybridge, Devon, England. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a gown of ivory satin with a cowl-shaped neckline and long, light-fitting sleeves. The train was cut in one with the skirt, and a pearl headpiece held the old family Brussels lace veil in place. She carried a bouquet of auratum lilies. Annie and Susan Peard, in frocks of apricot-colored taffeta with puff sleeves and yokes of chiffon, and carrying Victorian posies of orange-colored roses, were the bridesmaids. The six grown-up bridesmaids—Miss Elizabeth Hoyer Millar (cousin of the bride), Miss Molly Twigg (cousin of the bridegroom),

Miss Petronilla Dunsterville, Miss Molly Hamilton, Miss Elizabeth Newbould, and Miss Phoebe Waterfield—wore dresses of apricot-colored taffeta with bishop sleeves and tucked yokes of chiffon to match, and flame-colored taffeta sashes. They had halo headpieces of gold leaves and carried bouquets of flame ranunculus. Lieutenant John Shiffner, R.N., was best man, and, like the bridegroom, wore full dress uniform. Naval officers formed a guard of honor as the bride and bridegroom left the church.

Mrs. Cookson afterwards held a reception at The Grange, when among the guests were:

Mrs. Blackwood Ryan, Mrs. Malley, Mrs. Hoyer Millar, Miss Ryan, Commander and Mrs. Morey, Captain and Mrs. Twigg, Colonel and Mrs. A. E. Perkins, and Mrs. E. O. Hoyer Millar, Miss Cookson, Mrs. R. S. Bagshaw, Colonel and Mrs. Goldsmith, Captain and Mrs. Wigram, Sir Bennett and Lady Newbould, Major and Mrs. Hamilton, Mrs. Dunsterville, Mr. and Mrs. Waterfield, Lieutenant-Commander and Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Barrett, Mrs. Hayes, Commander and Lady Alice Langton, Lieutenant-Commander and Mrs. Firth, Mrs. Nicol, Lieutenant and Mrs. Cowell, Mrs. Rodney Spedding, General and Mrs. Nelson, and Mr. Lawrence Bagshaw.

Sum of $127 Collected on Heather Day

The successful carrying out by the Sir James and Lady Douglas Chapter yesterday of the sale of Heather Day was largely due to the splendid work done by more than forty sellers, including the champion seller, Mrs. R. B. McKicking, who was the centre of attraction at the headquarters, and collected many dollars in her box. Other volunteer workers were Mrs. Stewart Williams, Mrs. Cassidy, Mrs. Wood, Mr. Crowhurst, Girl Guides of the Lady Douglas and other troops, and a number of young ladies and boys, to whom the chapter is deeply indebted for their valuable assistance.

The total of $127 was taken in. Mrs. John Rogers and Mrs. Cotford acted for the treasurer, Mrs. Shaw, who is in California. Mrs. T. B. Monk, soldiers' graves convener, placed a beautiful wreath of heather on the war memorial, which was most artistically made by Mrs. Bowman, of the firm of Jennings & Sons, florists, to whom the chapter is indebted for the use of part of their store as headquarters for the day.

Mrs. McKicking received the visitors who called, including Mrs. W. Ellis, Municipal Chapter convener, and Mrs. Curtis Sampson. Eighteen overseas soldiers registered their names in the chapter's roll call book. Mrs. Bertha Parsons, the convener, was assisted by Mrs. Pillar, educational secretary, and other chapter members.

PREPARING TO HEAD ALBERTA MINISTRY

hired Premier-elect thought "to protect the holdings of the people. We must keep the homes and farms of the people without being a detriment to holders and mortgages."

NO REPUDIATION
"And we are determined—and I cannot emphasize this too much—that there will be no repudiation of debt. It will be our determination to see our people pay their debts."

But he had another word of warning, especially for people in the East, who have criticized his Social Credit theories and predicted failure for them. "If they do not adopt Social Credit in other provinces," he said, "they will be forced to repudiate their debts, they have no other alternative."

The basis of the Aberhart scheme is a monthly dividend payment of $25 to every man and woman in Alberta. It will not be in cash, but in the form of credit, non-negotiable certificates. Every man will present a pass book to the Provincial Clearing House every month, and he will be credited with the amount in his own account in the clearing house in the same way as a bank handles cheques. The grocer or the butcher could issue non-negotiable certificates of his own paying his debts, thus circulating the credit.

CONTROL PRICES
If the internal credit of Alberta was pumped up to the extent of $100,000,000 monthly without some form of a brake, prices would run sky high and the whole system collapse. So Aberhart proposes to apply a levy to remove the credit in the same proportion as he issued it and to control prices through a board of experts.

The credit will be withdrawn through a tax which Aberhart calls an "unearned increment levy," but which, in reality, is the turnover tax. It will be his aim to narrow price spreads through the medium of his levy and to speed up the wheels of industry by increased turnover through the increased purchasing power of the province.

To illustrate how the levy will work: A fair price for wheat has been set at 60 cents a bushel. The farmer will receive 55 cents and the Government, 5 cents. The wheat is sold to the miller who nets forty pounds of flour, selling it for $1.10. The Government taking 10 cents, the miller then goes to the baker who sells bread at 7 cents a loaf, processing fifty loaves. The Government taking 1 cent a loaf, thus from a bushel of wheat processed into bread the Government levy would be 65 cents. The same general principle would apply to all products processed or marketed in Alberta.

INTER-PROVINCIAL TRADE
In his deep-pitched voice, Aberhart today advised Eastern manufacturers they had nothing to fear from his financial scheme. "They will not be paid in credit certificates, but in exactly the same medium as they are today. He will appeal to the Federal Government to license his clearing houses to sell postoffice money orders. The debtor would pay for the money order with a credit certificate. When it was cashed, the Eastern manufacturer could be credited with the amount and the debt would be transferred to the Government, becoming a part of its actual balance of trade.

Under the Aberhart scheme, Eastern manufacturers will have another boom. He proposes to make production loans to farmers without interest, which he believes will enable them to buy necessary machinery and parts. He then will negotiate with outside manufacturers to lower prices because of the security offered and the extra chances of the farmers paying their debts when not saddled with interest charges.

SAYS PLAN PRACTICABLE
LONDON, Aug. 27.—The promise of $25 per month to every bona fide adult citizen of Alberta is "quite practicable," declared Major C. H. Douglas, noted economist, in an interview published this morning in The News Chronicle.

He added his opinion that the scheme, projected by William Aberhart and his Social Credit League followers who triumphed in last week's provincial elections, would have to be developed in stages.

Major Douglas was quoted as saying that when he met Aberhart, while in Alberta some months ago at the invitation of the then United Farmers' Government to study Social Credit possibilities, he was "much impressed with his ability."

He had criticized Aberhart's proposals as a paid official of the Alberta Government when asked for an opinion, but the criticism, he said, was on points of detail.

HAD ELECTION IN MIND
"It must be remembered," Major Douglas was quoted, "that Aberhart had the election to consider and I have no doubt he now realizes the necessity of proceeding in stages."

The economist added that Alberta must "do without frills for a time at any rate. But there is no reason why everyone should not have $5 per month, which would be a good deal better than the grinding poverty from which many suffer today."

Asked if he were afraid of the banks, Major Douglas replied: "Banks are made into bogies. If there is any difficulty their co-operation may have to be enforced."

and Kingston P. "Piccolo" Peter Murray, awaiting trial on a similar charge.

McCardell was permitted to sit down while giving evidence, because of a broken arm. He was definite in his declaration that Meisner and Murray "had nothing whatever to do with the abduction."

Murray will appear in court tomorrow, when he will be given an opportunity to challenge his election for trial by jury. Informed authorities said he would ask to be tried immediately and the Crown would announce insufficient evidence to complete the case.

MAY BE DEPORTED
It was stated he would be taken immediately to the border and handed over to immigration officials.

But the next step in the case of Meisner was veiled in secrecy. It was suggested that, if Mr. Newton was convinced of the sincerity of the McCardell's confession, he would make a detailed report to Hon. Arthur Roebuck, Attorney-General, course appear in Viennese journals.

Jane Dixon Says:

NO MAN OR WOMAN, REGARDLESS OF AGE, IS LURED AWAY—THEY START DRIFTING WHEN INTEREST FLAGS OR WHEN LOVE WITHERS.

My "lure" letters might amuse me were it not for the fact that a majority of them are more productive of pathos than of comedy or amusement.

"She is trying to lure him away from me" or "he is being lured away from me by this woman."

Stuff and nonsense! No man, no woman, regardless of age, is "lured" away. They start drifting away when interest flags or when love withers. Why place the burden of blame on the new interest? The blame—rests on the drifter.

Love is not a fish that can be hooked and reeled in slowly, against its will. Love is a flame which can be extinguished only by the conduct of the beloved, or by the one who loves blowing cold upon it.

Dear Miss Dixon: I am twenty-one years old, and Peter thinks I am the most beautiful girl in our town.

I am very much in love with him. He is twenty-six. He asked me to marry him, but as I wished to finish my college course he agreed to wait for me.

I graduated this year and came home to find that one of my best friends was luring him away from me.

I know deep down in my heart that he still loves me, but for the present this girl has him completely blind to all others except herself.

I do not wish to hurt the feelings of my friend, so how will I be able to win Peter back to me?

Please help me—"Disappointed."

Your letter is based on so many false premises that I am afraid you will never win Peter back until you found your campaign on truth.

First, your "best friend" can not lure Peter away from you unless Peter is willing to be lured.

Second, the girl is not your best friend. She is not a friend at all. Friends do not betray the trust placed in them.

Third, if the man is blind to all others except the girl you call friend, he does not love you, and the depth of your heart is giving you false information.

A FORTUNATE DISCOVERY
I'm afraid you have overestimated Peter. If his love was so unstable that it could not survive the year in which you completed your college course and prepared yourself to be a more intelligent and better informed partner, he is not the sort of man a woman of your calibre should want as a husband.

In my opinion you are very fortunate to have discovered that his heart swings high, swings low, now.

A love that can't stand by and wait until the fruits of it ripen is a very low-grade product and will not last under any circumstances. It is better by a million miles to have Peter transfer his interest while he is your fiancee, than to have him swing low and get all hot and bothered about somebody else when he is your husband.

DON'T WORRY ABOUT THE "FRIEND"
I wouldn't worry too much about the alleged "friend's" feelings. Persons who betray friendship have mighty thick hides, and it is hard to hurt them.

Were I in your position I would cut her out entirely and give her and all who sat on the side lines to understand that I did not tolerate traitors.

When you tune in on the depths of your heart you listen for what you try to hear, not what comes through on the wire. It is physically and emotionally impossible for a man to be blind to all except one girl, and in love with another girl.

You can't win Peter back unless he wants to come back. The more you try to haul him in the farther he will race from you.

Get your chin up and your head high and tell Peter if he wants a release from your engagement he may have it. He'll take it in any case, if you try to hold him to it.

Interest yourself in your other young men friends for awhile. It will help you and it may cure Peter.

that his Government would not permit Russian activities tending to change the political or social order in the United States.

COUNTER ACCUSATION
WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Alexander Troyanovsky, the Soviet ambassador, tonight countered Ambassador, tonight countered

American apprehension over Russian Communist activities with a blunt reference to anti-Soviet campaigns in the United States.

"Anything said in Moscow by American citizens about the United States," Troyanovsky said in a statement, "is very insignificant compared to the continuous propaganda in the United States against the Soviet Union."

Then he added: "It is obvious that my Government will not interfere in the internal affairs of the United States in this or any other matter."

Troyanovsky said the United States protest against violation of pledges against interference in American affairs would be replied to by his Government, not by him.

Miscellaneous Showers
Miss Edith Zellinsky was the guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower given recently by Miss V. Bath, at the home of her parents, 2319 Fernwood Road. Little Lydia McMurtre presented the bride-to-be with a bouquet of flowers and Miss Esther Anderson played the wedding march. The gifts were concealed in a prettily decorated bon-bon. Music and games were played and a buffet supper served. The invited guests were Mesdames Zellinsky, Bath, Sheets, Day, Anderson, Burnett, Anderson, Fanthorpe, McMurtre (Ladysmith), and Misses Anderson, Besse Davidson, C. Miller, M. Barnett, H. Brown, P. Palmer, F. Jones, M. Collins, O. Palmer, A. Jones, M. Robbins, M. Cuthbertson, Bath, L. McMurtre and Master Leonard Bath.

Engagement Announced
British Columbia friends of the bride-to-be will be interested in the announcement of the engagement of Catherine Rose, elder daughter of Mrs. Harrison, of Camberly, and the late Mr. Francis E. Harrison, of Vancouver, to Baron Gustaf Djurklou, only son of Baron and Baroness, Gustaf Djurklou, of Stockholm, Sweden, the marriage to take place shortly. The bride-to-be spent six years traveling in Europe with her parents and sister, and for the past three years has been living in Stockholm. She is a graduate of Crofton House School, Vancouver, and is a niece of Mrs. George D. Brynner, of New Westminster. She is also a cousin of Mrs. Alice McGregor, of Victoria.

Showers for Bride-to-Be
Mrs. M. L. McLennan and Mrs. A. G. Todd were joint hostesses at a shower on Friday evening at Mrs. McLennan's home, 311 Vancouver Street, in honor of Miss Muriel Stewart, daughter of Mrs. K. R. Stewart, Irving Road, whose marriage will take place on September 4. The house had been beautifully decorated for the occasion and presiding at the supper table were Mrs. Todd and Mrs. Stewart. A beautiful entrée dish was presented to the guest of honor in novel fashion. It was concealed in a cleverly constructed miniature lumber mill, which was wheeled into the room. Games and music were much enjoyed by the guests.

Christening Ceremony
The christening of the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. K. J. Ulrich, Denman Street, took place on Sunday afternoon at St. Mary's Church, with Rev. R. E. V. Verburgh officiating. The baby received the names Bente Jill. The godparents are Miss Florence Le Roy, of Michel, B.C. and Mr. F. Glendinning. Following the ceremony, tea was served at the home of Mrs. and Mrs. Ulrich.

To Attend Conference
Mrs. S. J. Willis, the president; Mrs. Alfred Carmichael, past president; Mrs. T. A. Johnston, secretary and Mrs. James Adam will represent the Women's Canadian Club at the regional council conference of Canadian Clubs to be held in Nanaimo today. Mrs. P. B. Scurrah, a past chairman of the regional council, will also attend the conference.

STORMY LOVE

CHAPTER XXVI

The following morning, however, was not so hot. Val arrived late at the office, and as the slow hammer of the trip-hammer was at work inside his skull, Linbury, his boss, was still away on leave, which left Val in charge of communications. He had never taken this job seriously and today the routine seemed doubly irksome. He felt stupid and inert and completely bored.

In the mid-afternoon he lounged at his desk staring across at Dyer, the chief radio electrician, a square-jawed man with five hash-marks on his sleeve, a face like the map of Ireland, and a sense of humor that embraced everything but the United States navy, which he held in sacred awe. Just now he was enthralled, as he had been for some time, by a huge chart of the Pacific area spread across a table and dotted with little colored flags on pins. By means of these markers he was following as closely as possible the movements of the fleet which week earlier had begun its Spring battle practice off the length of the coast. Now Dyer said over one bawny shoulder, "I'm thinking this squadron of destroyers scouting somewhere off Cape Flattery better take on fuel pretty soon and beat it back to protect their carrier or the enemy fleet going to raid him with the whole Blue Force, sir."

"Didn't a tanker sail from here this morning to refuel them?" Val asked indifferently.

"Yesir. But the tanker sailed under sealed orders and the rendezvous isn't been radioed to the destroyers yet. Orders should come in soon. As near as I can figure it, the whole squadron must be pretty low on fuel right now."

Watching the man's engrossment, Val remembered Captain Edding's advice that he study the "dot" maneuvers. He agreed with the idea but thought this was no time to start. Indeed, he must get out of doors pretty soon or blow up. He was refilled, of course, to observe office hours. But Dyer was here. Dyer did most of his work anyway. At three o'clock, while the man was poring intently over his chart, Val slipped out the door and set off for a stroll.

His walk in the cool Spring air quieted his throbbing head. It rested his eyes to watch the soft mist hanging in the little valleys of the hills. It was almost five when he recalled that Cordray was giving them a dinner in Seattle tonight. As he turned back toward the yard he noted there would be just time to dress before their host picked them up in his car to catch the ferry.

He was in the midst of shaving when Lia called from the bedroom. "Oh, by the way, Dyer was here looking for you. He came twice, I think. Something about one of those messages of his. Why can't he attend to it without bothering you?"

"Dyer is a very conscientious gent," he answered indifferently. "We are probably out of paper clips and he wants to tell me about it. I'll look in when I'm dressed and see what he has on his mind."

When he finally went across to the office with just ten minutes to spare, he found a distraught Dyer pacing the floor. The man stared at Val's dinner clothes with amazed eyes. "I left word there was an important message to be sent through Mr. Preston," he said. "I thought you'd come right away."

"Well, I'm here."

"Yesir. But these are the refueling orders to that squadron of destroyers we were talking about. They came right after I found you'd gone out. It's important, Mr. Preston. Those destroyers must be almost out of oil by now and the message came into the office nearly two hours ago."

"Why didn't you send it, then?"

"And why get upset? The tanker will radio them a position if we don't."

He was suddenly aware that Dyer was staring at him with ill-concealed contempt in the quick of his big mouth. "I thought you understood, sir," he said, "that the ships are under radio silence during this fleet problem. If I'd sent the squadron a straight position for their rendezvous with the tanker, the whole enemy fleet'd have picked it up and been on their tails by now."

Val's face flushed hotly when the enlisted man went on explaining as if to a child. "Because this message must be coded before it is sent out is why it's been held up, sir. With Mr. Linbury on leave, you're the only one that's got access to code book A."

The color had drained from Val's face, his jaw was set. It was a damned poor naval officer, he knew who would make a bust like this. That party last night, must have added his brains. He set about unlocking the safe, brought out the code and began hastily to work over the message.

It was not a long order, but he was in a hurry to transcribe quickly. He had been at work only a few minutes when the telephone rang. It was Lia to remind him there was only a little time left to catch the ferry. He was tense with nerves and he answered her shortly. His hands were unsteady, his forehead damp when he turned to his task. As he thumbed through the code book and jotted down numbers, he heard Cordray's car turn into the office driveway. The chug of that damned motor distracted him. As he impatiently horn grunted, a second warning followed. Now it kept up a steady bellow. He would murder Cordray—and Lia, too! There, this could have to do. He stood up, scrawled the last of the message and tossed it to the chief. "Okay, Dyer," he said, "get it through as soon as you can." He had not a moment to spare when he flunk the code back into the safe, slammed the door and dashed out to join the party.

It was on the second morning afterward that he arrived at the office to find Dyer greatly agitated. "That code message that went through Tuesday evening was haywire, Mr. Preston," the man said excitedly. "That's something that never happened in this office since I been here. I sent it just the way you gave it to me. The copy's there on file."

"Who called you about it?"

"Captain of the yard, sir."

As Dyer was speaking, Kent Townley came through the doorway. Lia's face was grave. "For God's sake, Preston," he snapped, "what's going on up here? You have made one hell of a bust on a code message a mistake of a degree of latitude that put a squadron of destroyers sixty miles out of position for a fueling rendezvous and jammed up the war game in fine style. When the ships ran out of oil and were forced to break radio silence, the enemy sent her planes in pursuit and—into all intents and purposes—sank the whole squadron. After weeks of planning the entire problem is shot to pieces, which certainly puts district communications on the spot. Please report to Captain Edding at once. And, believe me, you'll be a lucky hombre if you

What Today Means

"VIRGO"

In August 27 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:15 to 11:15 a.m., from 2:15 to 4:15 p.m., and from 7:15 to 9:15 p.m. The danger periods are from 7:15 to 9:15 a.m. and from 11:15 a.m. to 1:15 p.m. and from 4:15 to 6:15 p.m.

It may be advisable to attend to whatever you can on this day and not put it off until tomorrow, unless there is a logical reason for so doing.

Methodical methods will prevent confusion, as all methods are likely to be primarily responsible for any disarrangement of routine or plans. It will pay to be observant on this date, for there is danger of overlooking some person or thing that might be advantageous for you to see. Letting your thoughts wander aimlessly or indulging in daydreams might cause errors of judgment, so keep mentally alert. Liberal policies are apt to prove the best in business transactions, for restricted ones are likely to produce poor results.

Social activities should be kept free from selfish ulterior motives and subjects involving religious or political issues. Married and engaged couples, as well as those worshipping at Cupid's shrine, will be wise to harbor no feelings of resentment or anger if they wish the day to be a happy one.

If a woman and August 27 is your birthday, you will probably find the good use of your imagination one of your most valuable assets. The study of literature, and the technique of modern writing, may aid you greatly in achieving success.

HEALTH IN THE PALM OF YOUR HAND

It's as simple as that... getting rid of that headachy, half-well feeling that keeps so many people from enjoying life. This condition usually comes from some form of constipation. You can avoid it.

"The palm of your hand" refers to the way thousands of men and women take Eno's "Fruit Salt." They pour Eno into the palm of the hand and mix with a little white powder into a glass of water... and drain the glass. It's a mighty healthful thing to do.

Eno quenches thirst, sweetens the stomach, neutralizes acids from foods. Eno frees the intestines from poisonous waste, cools the bloodstream, tones up the entire inner system. Eno is pleasant to take, gentle in action. Every effect of Eno's "Fruit Salt" is beneficial. Begin now to pour health from the palm of your hand. Handy size 50c. Household size 85c.

IS EFFECTIVE FOR ONE YEAR

Trade Protection Law Invoked as Retaliatory Measure

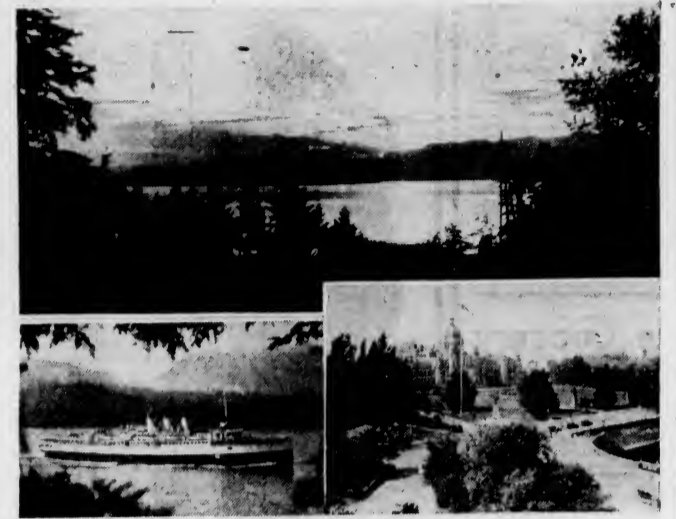

"The Trade Protection Law was finally invoked on July 20, under Imperial ordinance, against Canadian imports," comments Asahi. "Regulations of the Finance Ministry implementing the law were issued simultaneously. For one year a 50 per cent ad valorem additional tariff will be imposed on the principal imports from Canada. As a statement of the Foreign Office declares: 'Japan's fundamental policy of free trade has motivated this country to carry out such a retaliatory measure against Canada.'"

"Not only Canada, but other foreign countries who have close relations with Japan, will not fail to understand the motive of Japan's policy. Mutual concession and conciliation must be the keynote of international trade. It is as a last resort that Japan has taken retaliatory measures. The spirit of an eye for an eye is objectionable under any circumstances, but in the case of Canada, the Japanese Government had conducted diplomatic negotiations with the Canadian Government for a long time, but without success. Because of lack of sincerity on the Canadian part, further diplomatic negotiations were made impossible and eventually the situation has prompted Japan to take such a step."

FAVORED NATIONS

"Japan and Canada are in close trade relations, each extending the most favored nation treatment to the other. However, Canada's trade policy has been extensively inclined to the rejection of Japanese goods. Because of this existing trade policy, Japanese goods in Canada have been dealt a stunning blow."

Best Tourist Season for Some Years

Vancouver Island, with its many scenic and sporting attractions, is enjoying a good tourist season. Above (at top) is a view of the Gulf of Georgia from the island highway, while below are the Ss. Princess Kathleen, Victoria-Vancouver-Seattle ferry, of Canadian Pacific Steamships, which, with the Ss. Princess Marguerite, has been carrying great numbers of passengers between the island and the British Columbia and Washington Mainlands, and the imposing Legislative Building, which are the Victoria's introduction to the Inner Harbor. Current cent-a-mile bargains offered by the railways from the Prairies, three or four thousand visitors out to the Coast, with travel to the Island gaining new impetus.

Railway Secretary Superannuated

R. P. ORMSBY

SECRETARY to the Canadian National Railways Company and various allied and controlled companies, who is retiring at the age of sixty-five. He was born in Ireland in 1869, and was educated in England, graduating from Cambridge University in 1891. He arrived in Canada in 1896 and joined the Canadian Northern in 1902. When the Canadian Northern system was taken over by the Dominion Government in 1918, Mr. Ormsby was appointed secretary.

The prices of these goods in Canada are three times their export prices. In some cases, prices are six or seven times the export prices. Thus, Japan's trade development and expansion in Canada have been effectively blocked. Many Japanese traders in Canada have already given up their business interests and come back home.

"The Canadian policy was too much for Japan to bear and this has caused Japan to resort to the only measure available."

FREIGHTER REFLOATED

Bandon Freed Herself at 'High Water and Is Proceeding South

SEATTLE, Aug. 26 (AP)—The Seattle-bound freighter Bandon, aground several hours on Haliday Island, fifty miles south of Ketchikan, Alaska, freed herself at high tide shortly before noon today and proceeded towards Prince Rupert under her own power, the coast guard here was advised.

The coast guard cutter Cyane had put out from Ketchikan about the time the vessel freed itself. It had aground last night in the fog shortly after leaving Ketchikan.

Prince Rupert is about thirty-five miles away.

PRINCE RUPERT, Aug. 26 (AP)—Capt. Edward Mabbs, of the steamer Prince George arriving in port this morning from Alaska, reported sighting from a considerable distance an unidentified steamer, probably a freighter or tanker believed to be an American vessel, ashore on Haliday Island, about thirty-five miles north of here in Chatham Sound.

The vessel, while apparently fast ashore, is believed to have been in no particular danger. There were no distress signals, and in any case, there were plenty of small fishing vessels in the vicinity. The stranded vessel was sighted at 5:22 a.m. in very foggy weather. She was well out of water at the low tide and had probably gone ashore during the very thick night.

The local wireless station had no information of a vessel being ashore and Captain Mabbs was the first to advise local salvage authorities.

STANDARD OIL COMPANY OF BRITISH COLUMBIA, LTD.

Announces
the Inauguration of

A NEW INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT
A NEW STANDARD OF MOTORING SERVICE
A NEW QUALITY LINE OF PETROLEUM PRODUCTS
-for British Columbia Motoring Progress

BRITISH COLUMBIA, in common with many other localities, needs new Industrial Development and new opportunities for employment. It needs increasing and improving motoring service to care for its growing automotive requirements. It is entitled to the highest quality of gasolines, motor oils, and other motoring products—made here at home wherever possible.

Standard Oil Company of British Columbia, Ltd., has been organized and incorporated to do its share in supplying all of these needs, to the mutual advantage of the company and the community.

In this, our first advertisement, we wish to explain to you what we have to offer in operations and services, which will include the following:

1. British Columbia plant, products and payrolls.
2. New Investment, above $750,000, in our new refinery now under construction at Burnaby, and in building and acquiring new Service Stations and dealer-representation. This refinery, and our stations, are being built strictly by British Columbia contractors and labor, using materials purchased in the Province or elsewhere in the Dominion if not obtainable locally.
3. Standard Stations, Ltd. ("At the Sign of the Chevron"), a British Columbia corporation operating a series of Service Stations absolutely modern in equipment, products and service.
And Authorized Distributors of Standard Stations, Ltd., who are outstanding retail dealers who also display the Chevron Sign, together with their own firm-name. Our products also will be sold through other representative dealers, designated by distinctive signs, thereby increasing the number of locations at which you can conveniently make your purchases.
4. "Standard Service" at all Standard Stations, by British Columbia employees, specially taught at our expense in the only Service-Training School of its kind in the world. "Standard Service" you will find to be far more than a name. It is a new and perhaps surprising system of service developed through careful study of the needs of thousands of motorists. It provides not only courteous attention but—more than that—capable service-men whenever you drive in.

5. "Standard Oil" Quality Motoring Products. We realize that there are now on sale, in British Columbia, other good gasolines. We know that only by supplying you with exceptionally good gasolines, motor oils and accessories can we expect to gain and hold your patronage. We therefore invite you to become acquainted with the "Standard Oil Quality" Products named below.

British Columbia motor registrations now stand more than 61 per cent above those of 1925, and are going higher. Through our investment, service, and products we shall seek to serve the growing requirements of motorists, industry and marine craft.

On the ground that we can and will render a real and useful service, we invite your patronage. We want you to know for yourself what Standard Service and Standard Oil Products really mean in motoring efficiency, economy and comfort.

Morrison Medalist In City Golf Meet At Oak Bay Course

Uplands Star Shoots Two Fine Rounds to Top Field by Lone Stroke With Score of 139—Todd Finishes Second and Harold Brynjolfsson Third—Draw Is Announced

Shooting a par-shattering round in the forenoon, a brilliant 68, and then slipping in with a neat 71, two strokes above perfect figures, after lunch, Bob Morrison, long-hitting Uplands Club member, served notice Sunday at the Oak Bay links that he is out to make a determined bid for the city golf championship this year by capturing the thirty-six hole medal.

from a formidable list of about 100 makers with a score of 139, a lone wallop behind the Uplands star came Jimmy Todd, Victoria Club champion and the city's popular left-hander.

Morrison was not all day. He traveled over the outgoing nine in the morning in 32 and then came home in even fours for his 68. In the afternoon the tall Uplands contender equalled par on the first part of the trip but slipped on the journey towards the clubhouse and required 38 for the last nine. However, he won the honors at that, despite a great effort by Todd to overtake him. Todd fired two fine seventies over the well-trapped links to slip into the runner-up position.

BRYNJOLFSSON THIRD
Harold Brynjolfsson, another Uplands Club star, came home in third berth, shooting a 73 in the morning and then smashed par in the afternoon with a great 68, putting him two strokes behind the medalist. Alan Taylor, Oak Bay, was fourth with 146 and H. G. "Scotty" MacKenzie, Colwood, was next in line with 148.

Ken Lawson, defending titleholder, qualified easily with 153. He finished in a tie with Bobby Ford, another young Uplands member. Scores of 156 or better were good enough to gain places in the championship, thirty-two of which qualified for match play. Match play opens next Saturday and will continue on Sunday and Monday, the day on which the champion will be named with the two finalists billed to battle it out over thirty-six holes.

TOPS "B" CLASS
In the "B" class championship, R. A. Simpson and G. Thomas finished in a deadlock with scores of 186 for the eighteen holes. J. C. Pender was runner-up with an 88 and J. Barlow was next with 89.

The Chaudiere pro scored 71-68-139 in his first rounds in the professional event, leaving little Jules Hout, of Kent, Quebec, defending titleholder, eleven strokes behind. He is strongly favored to hold his lead down the final thirty-six-hole stretch tomorrow.

TRAILER LEADER
Six strokes behind Alston were J. A. Robson, of Ingleton, Ont., Willie Lamb, of Lambton, Ont., and Dick Borthwick, Toronto Hunt Club. Still another stroke back was Jimmy Johnstone, of Toronto Rosedale. The Quebec contingent, led by burly Jack Brown, of Summerside, and Bobby Burns, of Hampstead, trailed this invading force from Ontario.

Canada's No. 1 pro ever since he was runner-up to Joe Kirkwood in the Canadian open two years ago, the twenty-four-year-old Alston found his iron "hot" in the morning today and they were beyond reproach in the afternoon. His second round of 68 was a competitive record for Elm Ridge.

THREE MARKS ARE SMASHED
Mary Lou Petty Cracks Two World Swimming Records In the South

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Aug. 26.—Three world swimming records went into the discard yesterday, at the Pacific Coast A.A.U. meet at Transbay Coronado. Mary Lou Petty accounted for two of them and helped break the third.

As a member of the Washington Athletic Club's women's team, Miss Petty swam the 800-metre free style in 11 minutes 34 seconds—one and six-tenths seconds better than Lenore Kiehl's latest record.

In the first lap of the 800-metre relay, Miss Petty clipped off the 200 metres in 2:34, besting the mark of 2:36.4 set by Helene Madison.

The relay team, consisting of Miss Petty, Olive McKean, Doris Buckley and Betty Lee, finished the relay in 10:36—far ahead of the record of 11:10 set by a Homestead, Pa., quartette headed by Miss Kiehl.

Fred Perry and Kay Stammers Head Invaders at Forest Hills—Canadians Entered—Helen Jacobs and Wilmer Allison Top Americans—Budge Seeded Second

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—A star-studded field of 162 players, including six Canadians, was drawn today for the men's and women's United States singles tennis championships starting Thursday at Forest Hills.

Topping the invading seeded players are Fred Perry, British ace, who will defend his crown, and Kay Stammers, who has conquered both Helen Jacobs and Helen Wills Moody overseas. The domestic lists are headed by Wilmer Allison, Davis Cup veteran, and Miss Jacobs.

From the Dominion come three Montreal men and three women. Bobby Murray gave a first-round bye in the upper half of the men's division. Laird Watt meets Lieut. R. M. Watt, of Jamaica, N.Y., while in the bottom half Henri P. Emard drew a tough opening assignment of Frank X. Shields, of Hollywood.

The feminine net-wielders from north of the border are Jean Burritt, of Toronto, and Diana Pope, of London, Ont., and Etile Billing, of Montreal. Miss Pope starts against none other than Phyllis Mudford-King, of the British Wightman Cup forces. Miss Burritt meets Patricia Henry, of Los Angeles, and Miss Billing's first-round encounter is with Gracy Wheeler, of California.

In recognition of his showing in the Wimbledon and Davis Cup events, red-headed Donald Budge, of Oakland, Cal., was seeded a notch below Allison, followed in order by Shields and Sidney B. Wood, of New York.

GOLF FACTS NOT THEORIES!
By ALEX MORRISON

A hooked shot is one thing and a pulled shot is entirely different. The first finds the ball starting on the proper line and then curving to the left. The second finds the ball traveling to the left of the intended line from the time it is hit. The pulled shot invariably finds the body turned toward the left too much at the moment of impact. Sid Breaux, the open champion of South Africa, suffered from this fault. To correct it he adopted a closed stance with the left foot well in advance of the right.

Keeping the right foot back from the ball, Breaux figured he did many "rotters" would prevent him from turning too much to the left as he swung at the ball.

The body turn does affect the line of flight, but you can't correct the body turn until you get your head in the proper position.

Keeping your chin pointed back of the ball is the best corrective measure in such cases.

CAPTURE PLAY-OFF
MONTREAL, Aug. 26.—Jack Lattier, of Rivermead, Ottawa, won the Quebec open golf championship, defeating Willie Lamb, of Lantzburg, 77-84 in the eighteen-hole play-off made necessary by their tie in the thirty-six-hole medal play competition on Friday.

JEAN BAUER HEADS FIELD
Providence Girl Shoots Fine 79 to Win Medal in Women's Golf Meet

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 26.—Jean Bauer, Providence, R.I., who never before qualified for the big show, today beat them all to win the medal of the thirty-ninth national women's golf championship with a 79, three shots higher than the tournament record set by Enid Wilson, of England, two years ago.

A final section of the tournament, but a failure in the national qualifying rounds at Salem and Whitmarsh in 1934, the pretty twenty-four-year-old New England miss regarded her entry this year as a "dark" until she discovered she was one under par for the first five holes. She grew dead serious thereafter and didn't do so well, but succeeded in slipping in behind Charlotte Glutting, of West Orange, N.J., to beat her out by one shot for the medal.

Mrs. Sylvia Arnesberg of New York, the former Mrs. Leo Federman, was third with an 81.

SALICA PUNCHES WAY TO BANTAMWEIGHT HONORS

GAINS UNPOPULAR DECISION IN HARD BOUT WITH ESCOBAR

Awarded Fifteen-Round Verdict After Savage Fight Against Porto Rican—Capacity Crowd Boos Decision—Officials to Render Final Ruling After Holding Conclave

By EDWARD J. NEIL

Associated Press Staff Writer.
DYCKMAN OVAL, NEW YORK, Aug. 26 (AP)—Lou Salica, Olympic flyweight finalist in 1932, became the bantamweight champion of most parts of the world tonight by winning a savage though unpopular decision over Sixto Escobar, of Porto Rico in a fifteen-round duel before a capacity crowd here tonight.

There were no knockdowns, but for the entire fifteen rounds the black-haired, pained-looking Italian youngster from Brooklyn clawed at the brown-skinned Escobar, winner of a recent elimination tournament in Montreal. Salica had the best of the long range battling, the Porto Rican the best in the frequent grueling, head-to-head exchanges in close.

VERDICT UNPOPULAR

At the end, the crowd of 5,949, paying $7.50 to see the most successful small-club duel in several seasons, howled and booed in derision, and the boxing commission, headed by John J. Phelan, left the ringside in confusion, promising to discuss the matter officially and announce the individual verdicts of the two judges and the referee, Arthur Donovan, tomorrow.

On the Associated Press scorecard, Escobar, a brown buzzsaw in close, by far the stiffer right hand puncher, won eight rounds, Salica five, San Francisco one, of the ringside critics gave Escobar ten rounds, Salica only five.

Each weighed 117 1/4 pounds, and, closely matched, sailed at each other from the opening gong. Fighting a smart, ready, counter-punching battle, Salica almost every round with smart right smashes to the head, Escobar clearly won the second, fourth, fifth, sixth, and seventh rounds, before he started to tire. He rocked Salica with right smashes in the fourth and fifth and hurt him badly with both hands about the body.

Salica, nosing out the extra points in the first, eighth and ninth, went into the tenth pretty well beaten. He rallied there, carried the fight to the Porto Rican all the rest of the way, and in the final round had Sixto tired and wobbling under a courageous two-fisted attack.

Added to the sanction of the National Boxing Association, representing most of the states and Canada, was the sanction of the New York Athletic Commission for the title claims of the two busy warriors, who left the ring unmarked despite the fierceness of the going.

Panama Al Brown, formerly recognized as bantamweight champion, has been fighting in Europe so long the local commissions have forgotten all about him.

BUS TUTTHILL BREAKS MARK AT HARRISON

Seattle Outboard Racer Claims New World's Speed Record at Meet

HARRISON HOT SPRINGS, Aug. 26 (AP)—Calm, placid waters of beautiful Harrison Lake were disturbed Sunday by the angry roar of skimming hydroplanes that came to this British Columbia resort in quest of Pacific Northwest outboard motor championships.

Drivers placing first, second and third in the meet, automatically qualified for the Pacific Coast championships to be held at Lake Merritt, Calif., September 7 and 8.

Bus Tutthill, of Seattle, set a possible world's record in the Class C service runabout race when he churned up the five-mile course at a rate of 38.278 miles per hour. His daring performance came but a few minutes after the sensational drive of Jerry Bryant, also of Seattle, who circled the course in the previous heat at a clip of 38.199 miles per hour to break the existing world's record of 37.54 miles per hour. Tutthill's time will be forwarded to executives of the National Outboard Association for official recognition.

It is thought that Pat Cummins' time of 44.893 miles per hour may prove a new world's record for Class C racing runabouts. Official times are being checked with the high-powered speed stars of Washington and Oregon. Best of the British Columbia boys was George Hynes, of Nanaimo, who drove consistently well to take first place among the amateurs with his C service runabout. Miss So and So, R. Cliff Bangster, of Vancouver, failed to place in any events.

Feature race of the day in the F class hydroplanes, went to young Carl Blackstock, of Seattle, driving the Hellydell. WIN PEDEN CUP Playing bang-up ball behind the effective twirling of Sid Carr, their lone twirler, Spencer's Diamond "B" softballers captured the coveted Peden Cup yesterday evening at Bullen Park when they defeated Esquimalt Meat Market, 5-2, in the series final.

After both clubs had scored a lone marker in the initial stanza, they battled through two scoreless innings of smart snappy ball. Spencers, aided by a circuit smash by Art Chapman, with one man on the cushions, managed to push across four runs in the fourth inning and take a lead which they never relinquished.

Esquimalt Meat Market, fighting hard for the fruits of victory

With their Vancouver Island championship play-off series deadlocked at one game each, Brunsdon's Lower Island champions, and Hillcrest Lumber Company, Mid-Island titheholders, will clash this evening at the Royal Athletic Park in the third and deciding game of the post-season series for the Island honors and the right to enter the British Columbia play-downs Saturday at Vancouver.

This evening's fixture will get under way at 6:10 o'clock, with Whyte and Battie in charge. With the Island championship at stake, one of the biggest crowds of the season is expected to make its way to the enclosure to witness the squads in action.

WIN SUNDAY'S GAME
Brunsdon's Boys battled their way right back in the race Sunday at Duncan when they hammered the offerings of a trio of Hillcrest Lumber Company twirlers to all corners of the ball lot and checked in with an impressive 13-2 victory.

Smiling "Red" Palmer, Esquimalt mound ace, who has carried the brunt of the heavy work for Brunsdon's Boys in the city play-downs and the Island series, turned in another good performance on the slab, limiting the Duncan nine to five scattered blows.

While Palmer was twirling good ball, his teammates were collecting thirteen base-knocks from the slants of three Duncan hurlers and making them good for a like number of runs.

Chalks Up 224 to 146 Victory in Friendly Cricket Match at Duncan

Playing on their home wicket at Duncan, Cowichan cricketers defeated the Albions, 224 to 146, Sunday afternoon in a friendly match, thereby gaining revenge for the setback they suffered Saturday in a league fixture.

Cowichan opened at bat and did some excellent hitting with the batting of E. S. Fox, who put on seventy-seven runs, being brilliant. C. Twite, strong home bat, was also in good form and contributed a useful forty-four runs to the Cowichan total. Green, J. Fox, Charter and Ellis were the other members of the home eleven to reach double figures.

E. D. Freeman played a splendid innings for the Albions hitting out at everything for the fine total of seventy-nine runs. Freeman's score included twelve fours and one six.

Percy Shrimpton, going on for the second time, took three Cowichan wickets in one over.

SCHILT

LIEUT. C. FRANK SCHILT, MARINE CORPS OFFICER, IS THE FIRST LIVING FLYER TO RECEIVE THE CONGRESSIONAL MEDAL OF HONOR FOR EXTRAORDINARY HEROISM IN THE FACE OF THE ENEMY. THE MEDAL WAS PRESENTED IN PERSON BY THE LATE PRESIDENT COOLIDGE IN 1928.

IN THE NICARAGUAN CAMPAIGN HE CAME TO THE RESCUE OF A SMALL MARINE DETACHMENT OUTNUMBERED 10 TO 1 BY SANDINOS MEN, LANDING IN THE ROUGH STREETS OF THE SMALL VILLAGE OF QUILALI.

HE MADE TEN TRIPS BRINGING SUPPLIES AND CARRYING AWAY WOUNDED MARINES STRAPPED TO HIS WINGS.

It was a hot afternoon in January, 1928, when a small patrol of U.S. Marines, outnumbered ten to one, was ambushed by General Augusto Sandino in the small village of Quilali, Nicaragua. Supplies were running low and casualties were many. Suddenly out of the skies swooped a Marine plane and landed in the rough and irregular streets of the town.

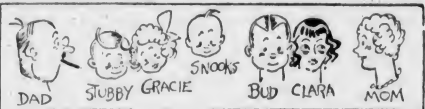

Quickly the more seriously wounded were strapped to boards and lashed to the lower wings. Ten times the aviator returned and safely got away with his precious cargo. His plane was damaged by the rough ground. His wings were riddled with bullets.

Knowledge that their plight was known to higher command gave heart to this little group of Marines and the bullets brought by Lt. Schilt gave added sting to their rifles. Spirited counter-attacks drove the enemy from their positions and the Marine detachment completed their mission.

Some months later the late President Coolidge pinned the Congressional Medal of Honor on Lt. Schilt's breast. The citation for this honor, the greatest the United States can bestow on a military man, reads, "For extraordinary heroism above and beyond the call of duty."

WHY IS IT CALLED A SINECURE?

There is nothing like a good, very old word adequately to depict a bad brand-new sinecure," wrote a political commentator, in criticism of the many new positions which had just been created in his municipality by the incoming administration.

In the matter of jobs, sinecure is synonymous with the more colloquial cinch and the slang soft soap. The emoluments are heavy, the duties light, the accomplishments nil.

Such a situation is aptly described by the appellation sinecure,

DETECTIVE STORY IS AT DOMINION

Fred MacMurray Plays Role of "G-Man" in "Men Without Names"—Madge Evans in Cast

Fred MacMurray, handsome star of "The Gilded Lily," and lovely Madge Evans are coupled in the leads of Paramount's thrilling Federal agent film, "Men Without Names," now at the Dominion Theatre.

The "Men Without Names" of this film are the men in the United States Government's Department of Justice, the super-sleuths and scientific detectives whose bravery, daring and skill have stemmed the crime wave.

In the picture, Federal Agent MacMurray is put on the trail of the gang who committed a Brooklyn armed truck robbery. Through "hot money," he trails them to a small Kansas town.

Posing as a visiting businessman, MacMurray relentlessly tracks the criminals to their lair. But gang-busting doesn't take up all his time, and MacMurray falls in love with a local beauty, Madge Evans.

Just as MacMurray thinks he has the gang cornered, they kill a fellow agent, Lynne Overman, and flee. In a thrilling, smashing climax, MacMurray and Madge Evans combine with other Federal agents to trail down the gangsters and give them their dues.

David Holt, the new juvenile sensation, is featured as Miss Evans' little brother.

Justice, the super-sleuths and scientific detectives whose bravery, daring and skill have stemmed the crime wave.

In the picture, Federal Agent MacMurray is put on the trail of the gang who committed a Brooklyn armed truck robbery. Through "hot money," he trails them to a small Kansas town.

Posing as a visiting businessman, MacMurray relentlessly tracks the criminals to their lair. But gang-busting doesn't take up all his time, and MacMurray falls in love with a local beauty, Madge Evans.

Just as MacMurray thinks he has the gang cornered, they kill a fellow agent, Lynne Overman, and flee. In a thrilling, smashing climax, MacMurray and Madge Evans combine with other Federal agents to trail down the gangsters and give them their dues.

David Holt, the new juvenile sensation, is featured as Miss Evans' little brother.

LARGE DEPOSIT BY CANDIDATES

Federal Electoral Law Requires Contestants to Risk $200 on Their Chances

All candidates in the Federal election across Canada will risk $200 of their money in Federal deposits with the Receiver-General. It was learned here officially yesterday.

A certified cheque for that amount, or currency, must be lodged with the Crown at the time of nomination, it was explained by Sidney Child, returning officer for the Victoria riding.

So far, three sets of nomination papers have been taken out in Victoria, one by D. B. Plunkett, M.P., Conservative nominee, and his C. J. McDowell, Liberal nominee, and a third by Rev. King Gordon, C.C.F. nominee.

Official nominations may be received at any time now, but will close finally on October 7, the returning officer stated.

The $200 deposit to be made by candidates will stand forfeited to the Crown if the candidate concerned fails to secure 50 per cent of the number of ballots cast for the successful candidate.

If 4,000 ballots, for instance, were polled by the candidate winning the seat, here, any candidates who did not secure 2,000 ballots would lose his or her deposit.

For that reason it is, unofficially, expected that candidates in the Federal election will be confined to organized groups, together with whatever independents may feel like making the challenge.

At the last provincial poll here there were thirty-two candidates in the running for four seats. There was, however, no deposit required in connection with the provincial poll.

Officials of the Stevens Reconstruction Party announced yesterday that they expect to name a candidate later this week, after choice of a nominating committee last evening.

From present expectations there will be at least four in the field in Victoria riding, for one seat.
